30 BENOIT, Pierre Jacques. Voyage a Surinam. Description des possessions néerlandaises dans la Guyane. Bruxelles, De Wasmé et Laurent, 1839. Folio. Contemporary half green morocco, spine gilt (chafed). With woodengraved illustration on title-page and 100 views and illustrations on 50 full-page lithographed plates, including the fine frontispiece, by Madou and Lauters after the author; several on chine applique. 76 pp. € 3.500,00

First edition; with armorial bookplate of Isaac Meulman. - Benoit was born in 1782 in Antwerp and died in Brussels in 1854. During his stay in Surinam he had an eye for daily life in Surinam, he belonged to the opponents of the abolition of slavery: the Surinam slave-owners, from humanitarian motives and from natural self-interest, by no means treat their slaves as badly as is asserted by those who are in favour of abolition. He cannot avoid picturing the harsh and cruel daily existence of the slaves and explaining why they run away, revolt against their masters and are filled with hatred towards the whites. When describing their dance-festivals, he says that the need to find an outlet for their misery accounts for the frenzy with which they throw themselves into it (Introduction by S.W. de Groot to the facsimile edition). He made a large number of charming and meticulous drawings. These very attractive set of views of Surinam include fine scenes of native life, showing costumes, dwellings, ceremonies, festivals, recreations, interiors, utensils, etc. of the negro- and Indian population. Beautiful lithographed plates-book on the people and life in Surinam. - Except some marginal foxing as usual, a fine large-paper copy.

Third edition, first published in 1687. - Biography of one of the most famous admirals in Dutch history, Michiel Adriaenszn. de Ruyter (1607-1676), also of great interest for Dutch political and economic history. Dealing with the early voyages to Jan Mayen Island (whaling), Morocco (Barbary Coast), during this time his esteem grew among other Dutch captains as he would regularly free Christian slaves by redeeming them at his own expense, and the Baltic: he managed to liberate Nyborg in 1659, for this he was knighted by the Danish king Frederick III of Denmark. After he recaptured Guinea on the English in 1664 he crossed the Atlantic to raid the English colonies in America. Visited the Caribbean islands, delivered supplies to the Dutch colony of St. Eustatius, and was engaged in Spanish-Dutch sea-fights and conquests. Giving the damage he had sustained at a certain moment he decided against an assault on New York to retake New-Netherland. He fought the English in the first three Anglo-Dutch Wars. His most famous exploit was against the English fleet: the Raid on the Medway in 1667. He sailed up the Thames to Chatham and burned three ships and captured the English flagship HMS Royal Charles, which he took with him back to Holland. It was a costly and embarrassing defeat for the English. On 18 March 1678 De Ruyter was given a state funeral when his body was buried in the Nieuwe Kerk in Amsterdam. He was succeeded as supreme commander by Cornelis Tromp in 1679. De Ruyters' flagship De Zeven Provinciën is being rebuilt in the Dutch town Lelystad. - Some staining otherwise fine. Cat. With title printed in red and black, 16 engraved plates (2 folding) and 12 engraved maps and plans (7 folding). (8),227 pp. € 1.795,00

First published in French 1698; with extensive annotations in pen on free endpaper, signed Bresson, 1736. - Under Captain Jean-Baptiste de Gennes a squadron sailed from France to the Strait of Magellan in 1695 to found a French settlement, taking François Froger, an engineer and cartographer on board the English Falcon who was to write a narrative of the voyage. The expedition first headed for the African coast where it carried out a successful attack on a British fort on the Gambia. After some delay the ships reached Ascension Island and Rio de Janeiro. Continuing to Cape Virgines and Tierra del Fuego. There Froger had a chance to observe the natives of Patagonia. Every attempt to enter the Pacific was frustrated and they had to go back to the Atlantic. They proceeded to Cape Frio, Bahia de Todos os Santos and Cayenne, sailed past the Windward and Leeward Islands and returned to La Rochelle in 1697 (Howgego p.426). 'This account is *especially noteworthy for its details of natural history subjects and for the accuracy of Froger's charts. He was eighteen when he set out on this voyage' (Hill p.232). 'The book is written in a simple and very factual style, making interesting reading. The part about Brazil is excellent ... Froger's book was very successful and appeared in several editions' (Borba de Moraes I, p.332/333). It contains fine views of Rio de Janeiro and S. Salvador and maps of the islands Gorée, the rivers Gambia and Janeiro ('the first definitive map'), Gulf of Bahia, Strait of Magellan, Cayennes and the French Antilles. - (Some stains in blank outer margin; joints splitting at foot of spine but firmly holding). - A fine copy. In 1783, the ship Antelope was wrecked in the Palau (Pelew) Islands of the Caroline Islands. Captain Henry Wilson became quite friendly with King Abba Thulle, who gave him every assistance in building a new ship, the Oroolong. Prior to its departure, Abba Thulle requested that Captain Wilson take his son, Lee Boo (Libu), along with him to England, to give him a chance to see the world. They travelled to Macao, where captain Wilson and his charge boarded the Morse; they arrived in England in July, 1784. Lee Boo was impressed by the novelties he saw around him and was constantly thinking of possible advantages to his own countrymen. In England, he lived with Captain Wilson and his family, who grew to love him. They took great pains not to let him become exposed to smallpox, but despite all precautions, Lee Bow contracted the disease and died on December 27, 1784 (Hill 813). This account did much to reinforce the idea of the noble savage. - Owner's entry on first free endpaper dated 1805.

The first Dutch edition; first published in English in 1797. - 'The African Association was founded in 1788. Its activities mark the beginning of African exploration in a systematic way, as well as the furthering of British trade and political prestige on that continent. This association was later merged into the Royal Geographical Society. The first concern of the African Association was the River Niger - where was its source and what was the direction of its flow, etc. The first four expeditions were unfortunate for the leaders, Ledyard, Lucas, Horneman, and Houghton, all of whom either died while enroute or were murdered by the fanatical Moors. The fifth, that of Mungo Park, was rich in geographical results, though he too died on his second expedition' (Cox I, p.388). This book contains the travel-accounts in Africa of Daniel Houghton (1790-91) and of Mungo Park (1795-97, his first expedition); with geographical explanation by J. Rennell. - Good copy; very rare. Gay 2788 (English ed.).

Second and best edition. - 'The most authentic history of the Dutch marine, founded entirely on documents of the Royal Archives. It is the more important as many of these documents were consumed, after the publication of the work, in the great fire of 1853, which destroyed a part of the Archives. Its value for the American collector needs not to be specified, as it contains very ample material for the history of the West-India-Company, the early expeditions to America, the wars with the Spaniards and Portuguese there, and the transmarine colonies. Many of the fine portraits are taken from old pictures, drawings, and very rare plates, not known before' (Muller, America, p.87).

*Legal arguments and precedents in favor of England detaining neutral ships and confiscating neutral property in the course of hostilities with France. The work was originally published in 1759 and referred to points of international law during the Seven Years' War (1756-1763). The war between France and Great Britain for dominance in North America and Asia. Great Britain emerged as the most powerful colonial power in the world. Obviously in 1778 the topic was still pertinent, and Marriot's treatise was reprinted. 'A contention that the Dutch had forfeited claims to neutrality by trading with French colonies and by allowing Dutch territory to be used by France in its war against Great Britain' (James Ford Bell Library p.380). - A very fine copy. 2 volumes. Later blue cloth, with red morocco title-label to spines. With 6 folding engraved plates. 12,LVI,344; 309 pp. € 875,00

First French edition. - 'This is an account of the first expedition under the command of Captain Cook, 1768-1771. Parkinson was engaged as natural history draughtsman by Sir Joseph Banks, to accompany him and Captain Cook in the Endeavour to the South Seas. Parkinson made numerous drawings of botanical and other subjects, including landscapes and portraits of native chiefs. After exploring Tahiti, New Zealand, Australia, and the Great Barrier Reef, the expedition reached Batavia. On leaving for the Cape of Good Hope, Parkinson succumbed to fever and dysentery and was buried at sea' (Hill p.462). Parkinson's manuscripts and drawings became a matter of dispute. Banks considered that they were his, while Parkinson's brother Stanfield claimed them under the provisions of his brother's will. When Hawkesworth learned of the impending publication of this work, he obtained an injunction to prevent it appearing until some time after the official account. 'Although physically the most impressive of the unofficial narratives the work's merit lies in its sidelights on incidents during the voyage' (NZNB). The book includes important vocabularies of the languages of Batavia, the coast of Malabar, Sumatra, Ceram, Madagascar, and of the negroes on the river Gambia. This is the first work to identify the kangaroo by name, and Parkinson is the first professional artist to set foot on Australian soil. - (Age browned; half-title and title vol. I waterstained). *Robert Ker Porter (1775-1842), English traveller and artist, went to Russia as historical painter to the tsar for the first time in 1804. He there gained the affections of the Princess Mary, the daughter of Prince Theodor von Sherbatov. He travelled in Finland and to Sweden where in 1806 he received a knighthood from Gustavis IV. In 1808 he accompanied Sir John Moore to Spain, and in 1811-1812 returned to Russia to marry his Princess. He was knighted by the Prince Regent in 1813. In 1817 Porter travelled back to St. Petersburg' (Howgego II, p.488). 'A man of the most varied attainments, Porter was justly described as 'distinguished alike in arts, in diplomacy, in war, and in literature'. He was a splendid horseman, excellent in field sports, and possessed the art of ingratiating himself with people of every rank in life. Unlike some popular favourites, he was the idol of his own domestic circle' (DNB). In 1846 a Dutch edition was published of the first part this book on the dominion of Mohammed Alia dealing with Egypt. 'Pückler Muskau is one of the most interesting travellers of his period; he journeyed extensively in Europe and Africa. He was a keen observer and a witty and sensitive writer, ready to note all sorts of facts and impressions of men and manners, although his great interest was landscape and landscape gardening' (Blackmer 1362). 'A boastful, exuberant, miles gloriosus-like tale by this 'Prince'. A great friend and defender of Mohammed Ali' (Kalfatovic, Nile notes, 0343).

*First Swedish edition, first published in Dutch 1638. - Joost Schouten first visited Siam in 1628 as a special ambassador bearing a gift from the Prince of Orange, Frederick Henry, to King Prasat Thong. He returned to the country in 1633, when the governor-general at Batavia, Hendrick Brouwer, sent him to Ayut'ia to re-establish Specx's factory. Schouten remained in Siam until 1636, during which time he was favourably accepted by the king, established trade with Holland, and aided the king in his campaigns against Patani. He was rewarded by being created a mandarin of the Siamese court. Schouten returned to Siam later in 1636 to present more gifts to the king and to negotiate new trade agreements. It was during this period that he prepared his report on the country, the first detailed study of Siam to be published in Dutch (Howgego p.946). *Christiaan Snouck Hurgronje (1857-1936) was a famous Dutch scholar of Oriental cultures and languages and Advisor on Native Affairs to the colonial government of the Netherlands East Indies. 'He knew more about Islam than the best-informed Muslim and more about colonial government than the Colonial Office itself, and many an opponent was antagonised or even silenced by his vitriolic criticism'. With Snouck Hurgronje (1857-1936) a new chapter begins in Dutch Islam scholarship in general and the study of Indonesian Islam in particular. .. In spite of all the criticism, no one intending to seriously study Islam in Indonesia will be able to avoid reading Snouck Hurgronje's work and consulting them again and again' (Boland-Farjon, Islam in Indonesia, p.16-17).
