prices.

Founded in 1846, the Hakluyt Society seeks to advance knowledge and education by the publication of scholarly editions of primary records of voyages, and travels dealing with the geography, ethnology and natural history of the regions visited. A substantial number of the publications relate to British ventures but the majority concern non-British enterprises and are based on texts written in Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, French or Dutch.

These historically significant texts and translations, often appearing in print for the first time, are fully annotated, well illustrated with maps and plates, and conform to the highest standards of scholarship.

1 HAKLUYT SOCIETY.

First series. Volume 3-5, 7-12, 14-18, 20-35, 38-42, 44-99. London, 1848-1898. 91 volumes (53 in reprint by Burt Franklin). - (Missing volume 6,13,19,36,37,43 and 100 (last volume)).

Second Series. Volume 1-190 (all published). London, 1899- 2000. 189 (of 190) volumes (10 in reprint by Kraus). - (Missing volume 157).

Third Series. Volume 1-14, 19-20, 22-25. London, 1999-2012. 20 volumes.

Together 300 volumes. All in blue cloth with gilt vignette on front and spines lettered in gilt (spines of vol. 74-74 damaged). With maps and plates. € 12.500,00

A very uncommon set of 'scholarly editions of primary sources on 'the voyages and travels' undertaken by individuals from many parts of the globe. These include early accounts dealing with the geography, ethnology and natural history of the regions visited. Such texts, many previously available only in manuscripts or in unedited prints in other languages, are the essential records of the initial stages of inter-continental and inter-cultural encounter. All editions are published in English. Although a substantial number of the Society's past editions relate to British ventures, with documentary sources in English, the majority concern non-British enterprises and are based on texts in languages other than English. Material originally written in Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, French or Dutch has regularly appeared, material in Russian, Greek, Latin, Ethiopic, Chinese, Persian or Arabic occasionally. The English translation in which this material is presented is normally a fresh version, but in certain instances an earlier rendering which has been appropriately checked and if necessary corrected. All editions contain scholarly annotation. This, together with an introduction, is designed with two aims in mind. The first is to give both the general reader and the student a degree of assistance in the elucidation of the material presented. The second is to provide guidance on the relevance of the episodes described, within the context of global development and world history. Volumes are normally furnished with maps and contemporary illustrations, often generously'. - A very rare almost complete set in fine condition.

2 ALLEN, W.E.D. (Ed.). Russian embassies to the Georgian kings (1589-1605). Edited with introduction, additional notes, commentaries and bibliography. Texts translated by Anthony Mango. Hakluyt Society, 3rd series, 6. - Sir Martin Frobisher (c. 1535 – 1594) was an English seaman and privateer who made three voyages to the New World to look for the Northwest Passage. He landed in northeastern Canada, around today's Resolution Island and Frobisher Bay.[2] On his second voyage, Frobisher found what he thought was gold ore and carried 200 tons of it home on three ships, where initial assaying determined it to be worth a profit of £5.2 per ton. Encouraged, Frobisher returned to Canada with an even larger fleet and dug several mines around Frobisher Bay. He carted 1,350 tons of the ore back where, after years of smelting, it was realised that the ore was worthless iron pyrite.

22 HALLEY, Edmond. The three voyages of Edmond Halley in the Paramore 1698-1701. Edited by Norman J.W. Thrower. London, 1981. 2 volumes. Cloth, with dust-jackets. With 18 maps and illustrations. 392 pp. € 45,00

- 53 BARTLETT, William Henry. - BEATTIE, William. The ports, harbours, watering-places, and coast scenery of Great Britain. Illustrated by views taken on the spot, by W.H. Bartlett; with descriptions by William Beattie. London, George Virtue, 1842.

2 volumes. 4to. Contemporary richly decorated gilt morocco, rebaked with the original gilt spines laid down (rubbed), a.e.g. With frontispiece portrait of Queen Victoria, woodcut of Blackwall and 125 steelengravings (incl. 2 frontispieces and title-pages). (4),190; (4),155 pp. € 475,00

This is the revised, much enlarged edition of the original work issued by Charles Tilt in 1836. - The plates present the harbours and shores of England, Scotland and Wales in the most dramatic, picturesque, or romantic light possible. Depictions of port cities range from stormy scenes of wreckage to calm sunny days. The romantic views by William Henry Bartlett (1809-1854) are among the best produced in the 19th century. The plate of the lighthouse of Berwick in volume one is shown as title-vignette in volume two. William Beattie (1793-1875) wrote the descriptions. - (Some light foxing as usual).
