2 AA, Pieter van der. Naaukeurige versameling der gedenk-waardigste reysen naar Oost en West-Indiën, mitsgaders andere gewesten gedaan; sedert de jaaren 1246 tot op desen tijd. Leyden, P. van der Aa, 1707 (= 1706-08).

28 volumes in 29 (vol. XIII in 2 volumes). Sm. 8vo. Contemporary blind-tooled vel-lum, with handwritten title on spines. With in each volume half-title and general title-page of the series printed in red and black and ca. 600 folding engraved maps and plates. € 15.000,00

First 8vo edition; with the armorial bookplate of Isaac Meulman. - Rare complete collection of the most memorable voyages to the East and West Indies from 1246 to 1696. Containing 127 early Spanish, Portuguese, French and English travel-accounts, partly from the original manuscripts and published for the first time in Dutch, and also from the collections of de Barros, Herrera, Thevenot, Hakluyt, Purchas, etc. Each part with separate title-page, with engraved vignette, and pagination. Van der AA started to publish this collection first in octavo, arranged chronologically. He proceeded this huge project with the folio-edition, which he then further arranged to nations. This collection starts with J. de Plano Carpini (1246-47) and W.v.Ruysbroek (1253) both to China, and goes on with the ones of Vasco da Gama, Columbus, D.d'Almeida, Alfonso d'Albuquerque, D.Lopez de Sequeira, Hernando Cortes, H. Staden, J .Lerius etc. and ends with Dickinson's account of his voyage to Jamaica and Pennsylvania (1696). Including an introduction and an index in the first volume and a general index in the last volume. - (Some marginal wormholes). - Added as volume XXIX: ROY, Jacob Jansz de. Hachelijke reys-togt na Borneo en Atchin. Leyden, Pieter van der Aa, 1706. Contemporary vellum. - A very attractive set of an amazing collection in Dutch of well over a hundred accounts of voyages of discovery all over the world by all nations other than the Dutch.

3 ANSON, George. Portrait of George Anson. (No pl.), 1751. Engraved circular portrait of Anson within an allegorical background, with text and coat of arms, after J. Wandelaar by J. Houbraken. c. 40,5 x 25 cm. € 195,00

Fine portrait of the English admiral George Anson (1697-1762) depicting i.a the backs of the ships Wager, Pearl, Gloucester, Centurion, and Severn. With these ships and the Tryall and Anna he made his famous circumnavigation (1740-174). Although Anson lost most of his crew and all but one of his ships, he did return with a vast bounty. – See illustration.

4 ANSON, George. Reize naer de Zuidzee, met het schip de Wager, onder het opzicht van George Anson, ondernomen in den jaere 1740. Zynde een vervolg op de reize van George Anson. In't Nederduitsch vertaeld. Leyden, Amsterdam, Johannes le Mair, Stephanus Jacobus Baalde, Cornelis van Hoogeveen, 1764. 4to. Contemporary vellum. With title-page printed in red and black with fine engraved title-vignette, and 8 folding engraved plates after D. Kuipers by N. v.d. Meer. (36), 212,(16) pp. € 650,00

First Dutch edition. - Compilation of the narratives of Bulkeley, Cummins, Campbell and Morris. 'The Wager was one of Commodore Anson's fleet which was proceeding up the west coast of South America to harass the Spanish possessions. The ship ran aground on a small island in the Northwest part of the Gulf de la Penas, and broke up.

The distresses endured caused the crew to divide, some electing to stay with Captain Cheap .. and the others to take the long boats and make their way back to the east coast. Bulkeley and Cummins were of the latter group. The navigation of the perilous seas, amid vast swarms of unknown islands and channels along the west coast of Patagonia or Chile is as marvelous as the men's capacity to endure cold, wet, and hunger. The voyage was successfully accomplished with the help of Narborough's charts. If there is a more desolate and rain-ridden coast than that of southern Chile, it remains yet to be discovered. This expedition of Anson's has many chroniclers' (Cox II, p.270). - (Some pages age-browned). - A fine copy.

5 ANSON, George. Reize rondsom de wereld, gedaan in de jaaren 1740 tot 1744.. op een expeditie naar de Zuidzee; opgesteld uit de papieren en bescheiden van.. Anson zelven, en onder zyn opzigt uitgegeven door Richard Walter. Uit het Engelsch vertaald. Amsterdam, Isaak Tirion, 1748.

4to. Contemporary mottled calf, spine gilt (extremities rep.), with red morocco title label to spine. With title-page printed in red and black with fine engraved title-vignette, 15 folding maps and plans and 20 folding plates. (26), 386,(4) pp.

First Dutch edition. - Official account of Anson's (1697-1762) famous privateering expedition (1740-1744) of seven vessels against Spanish commerce in the Pacific, edited from Anson's papers by Richard Walter, chaplain of the expedition. Although Anson lost most of his crew (an estimated 1000 lost to scurvy, 300 to typhus and dysentery, four in action and the remainder to shipwreck), and all but one of his ships, he did return with a vast bounty. Anson's voyage appears to have been the most popular book of maritime adventure of the 18th century. His exploits brought back new knowledge about the little-known regions around the southern tip of South America. - A fine copy.

John Barrow (1764-1848) accompanied Lord Macartney on the first British embassy to China in 1792, later becoming his private secretary. Barrow's account of the expedition is considered a most valuable contribution to the literature of western embassies to China. Of special interest are the description of the Imperial Palace in Peking, and the palace in Jehol, and also the observations on the life and character of the Qianlong Emperor. The frontispiece by Thomas Hickey is a portrait of Van-ta-gin, the emperor's officer, who escorted Lord Macartney to the capital. He became a most congenial travelling companion, and learnt to shake hands and to eat with knife and fork. William Alexander, was also in the suite of Macartney's embassy, as artist. 'One of the best illustrated English travels on China. .. The strict exclusion of Europeans by the Chinese Emperors had left China very much terra incognita to the western world well into the nineteenth century' (Hill p.23) - (Two holes title-page rep.). - A fine clean copy with bright coloured plates after William Alexander. Abbey, Travel, 531; Tooley, Coloured plates, 84; Cordier, BS, 2388; Lust 366; Morrison I, 42; Hill 65. - See illustration.

10 BEAVER, Philip. African memoranda: relative to an attempt to establish a British settlement on the island of Bulama, on the western coast of Africa, in the year 1792. With a brief notice of the neighbouring tribes, soil, productions, etc. and some observations on the facility of colonizing that part of Africa, with a view to cultivation; and the introduction of letters and religion to its inhabitants: but more particularly as the means of gradually abolishing African slavery. London, C. and R. Baldwin, 1805.

4to. Contemporary half calf, spine gilt with red morocco title label. With large folding engraved map, coloured in outline, and 2 full-page engraved plans. (8),XV,500 pp. € 1.450,00

First edition. - In the end of 1791 Beaver (1766-1813) associated himself with a scheme for colonising the island of Bulama on the coast of Africa, near Sierra Leone, and left England for that place on 14 April 1792. The whole affair from the beginning to have been conducted without forethought or knowledge. The would-be settlers were, for the most part, idle and dissipated. Beaver found himself at sea in command of a vessel of 200 tons, with 65 men, 24 women, and 31 children, mostly sea-sick, and all equally useless. When they landed, anything like discipline was unattainable. The party, assembled on shore, proved ignorant alike of law, industry, or order. The directors lost heart and took a nearly opportunity of returning to England. The command devolved on Beaver, and during a period of eighteen months he endeavoured, by unceasing toil, to keep a little order and to promote a little industry; but the men were quite unfitted for the work and manner of life, and the greater number of them died. The miserable remnants of the party evacuated the island in November 1793, and went to Sierra Leone, whence Beaver obtained a passage to England, and arrived at Plymouth 17 May 1794 (DNB). - A good copy.

14 BOGAERT, Abraham. Historische reizen door d'oostersche deelen van Asia; zynde eene historische beschryving dier koninkryken en landschappen, door hem bezocht en doorwandelt .. Mitsgaders een omstandig verhaal van den Bantamschen inlandschen oorlog, het verdryven der Francoizen uit het Koninkryk Siam, en't geen aan Kaap de goede Hoop in den jaare 1706 is voorgevallen, tot aan het opontbod des Gouverneurs Willem Adriaan van der Stel. Amsterdam, Nicolaas ten Hoorn, 1711. 4to. Contemporary calf, rebaked with the original spine laid down, spine richly gilt in compartments. With engraved allegorical title-page, folding engraved portrait and 15 engraved plates (4 folding; 1 corner damaged with some loss). (12),604,(8) pp. € 2.250,00

First edition. - Abraham Bogaert (1663-1727) was a physician in the Dutch East India Company's service. This is an account of his third voyage to the Indies. Passing the Canaries and Teneriffe, the vessel arrived in Table Bay in July 1702. After a ten days' stay in Table Bay, the voyage was resumed to Bantam. From Batavia Bogaert sailed to Bengal, Ceilon and India and called again at Table Bay in the year 1706. 'He devoted two long chapters to an account of the tyranny practised by Governor William Adrian van der Stel, and its consequences. Of this he was more than a spectator, as he took an active part in the cause of the burghers. For this period of Cape history his work is of great value .. (Theal, History of South Africa, 1481-1691).

There is the full text of the memorial sent home by the burghers complaining of the conduct of the Governor, and this memorial, according to Theal, was put into Bogaert's hands for safe custody, until the ship was fairly on its homeward voyage' (Mendelssohn I, p.146). With fine views of Table Bay and Vergelegen, the Governor's estate. Including also his circumstantial account of the kingdom of Siam (visited in 1690). - Scarce.

First Dutch edition. - James Bruce, Laird of Kinnaird (1730-1794), the first European to undertake an expedition aimed specifically at finding the Nile's source, failed in his attempt, but his exploration paved the way for many more travelers who came after him. In mid-1768 Bruce ascended the Nile from Alexandria and journeyed into the Ethiopian interior. In 1770 he believed to have found the source of the Nile near Gondar, the ancient capital of Abyssinia. Still he was mistaken, as he had not reached the source of the Nile, but only that of its considerable tributary. He descended the Blue Nile to its confluence with the White Nile at the site of present-day Khartoum. He was one of the earliest explorers to report this connection between the White and Blue Nile. The results of Bruce's travels was a very great enrichment of the knowledge of geography and ethnography especially of Ethiopia. His very readable account is still fascinating today. - 'One of the most splendid narratives in the literature of African exploration' (Hallet, Africa to 1875, p.110). - A fine set of the rare Dutch edition.

23 BRUYN, Cornelis de. Travels into Muscovy, Persia, and part of the East-Indies. Containing, an accurate description of whatever is most remarkable in those countries. To which is added, an account of the journey of Mr. Isbrants (Everard Isbrand Ides), ambassador from Muscovy, through Russia and Tartary, to China; together with remarks on the travels of John Chardin, and Mr. Kempfer (Engelbert Kaempfer) .. Translated from the original French. London, A. Bettesworth, a.o., 1737.
2 volumes. Folio. Contemporary calf (corners rep.), rebacked with the original spines laid down. With engraved frontispiece, engraved portrait of the author by G. Valck, 3 engraved double-page maps and ca. 300 engraved plates and illustrations (many double-page or folding). (6),246; 223,(11) pp. € 5.500,00

First published in 1711. - Second voyage (1701-1708) by Cornelis de Bruyn (1652-1726), the Dutch traveller and painter. In 1701 he undertook an extensive journey to Persia, India, Ceylon and Java via Moscow. His universal interest and exact observation enabled him to make some very important notes on ethnological, archaeological and geographical subjects. De Bruyn was primarily a landscape artist and this manifests itself in the fine engraved views and panoramas, but there are also plates of costumes, natural history subjects, etc., giving altogether a clear picture of different aspects of Russian and Asian life at the beginning of the 18th century. Bruyn's report is of great documentary value because of the detailed and accurate plates engraved after his drawings. The plates include two fine panoramic views of Moscow and Isfahan. - A fine copy. – See illustration.

24 (BURKE, Edmund). An account of the European settlements in America. In six parts. I. A short history of the discovery of that part of the world. II. The manners and customs of the original inhabitants. III. Of the Spanish settlements. IV. Of the Portuguese. V. Of the French, Dutch, and Danish. VI. Of the English. 6th edition, with improvements. London, J. Dodsley, 1777.
2 volumes in 1. Modern half calf, with black morocco label to spine. With 2 frontispiece folding engraved maps. XII,324; XII,308 pp. € 650,00

'The authorship of this book has been disputed. It is attributed to Burke, one of the foremost political thinkers of the British Isles. According to Burke bibliographer William B. Todd, it is probably mainly the work of Edmund Burke, but he notes that some regard it as a joint collaboration of Edmund, his cousin William Bourke, and possibly Edmund's brother Richard as well, and, further, that it also has been mistakenly attributed to Soame Jenyns. The popularity of this work was so great that it had many editions, and was translated into many languages. The first volume is largely of Hispanic-American interest, relating to Mexico, New Mexico, the English claim to California, Peru, Chile, and Brazil. The second volume describes the various European colonies in the West Indies' (Hill 218).

25 BYRON, JOHN. - (CLERKE, Charles). A voyage round the world, in his majesty's ship The Dolphin, commanded by .. Commodore BYRON. In which is contained, a faithful account of the several places, people, plants, animals, &c. seen on the voyage. And, among other particulars, a minute and exact description of the Streights of Magellan, and the gigantic people called Patagonians. Together with an accurate account of seven islands lately discovered in the South Seas. 4th edition, corrected. London, T. Carnan and F. Newbery, 1776.
Sm.8vo. Modern half cloth. With 2 engraved plates (depicting the Patagonian giants and a grave with an altar of stones). (4),171,(5) pp. € 975,00

'This account of John Byron's circumnavigation is usually ascribed to midshipman Charles Clerke, who later sailed on all three of Captain's Cook's voyages, serving as commander of the third voyage for the final six months. The Dolphin sailed in July of 1764 from Plymouth, ostensibly for the East Indies; but the real purpose of the voyage was to make discoveries in the South Seas. .. This narrative was published six years before Hawkesworth's official account, and became famous because of its description of the Patagonian giants, still something of a mystery' (Hill 311).

26 CAPITEIN, Jacobus Elisa Joannes. Jacobus Elisa Joannes Capitein, Africaansche Moor, beroepen predikant aan het kasteel St. George op d'Elmina. Leyden, Philippus Bonk, (ca. 1742).
Fine engraved portrait by F. van Bleyswyck, with laudatory poem in engraved captions by Brandyn Ryser. Ca. 22 x 16 cm. € 225,00

Capitein (1717-1747), a black from West-Africa, became the property of Arnold Steenhart. After a short period he gave the young slave to his friend, Jacob van Goch, as a present. Van Goch had arrived on the coast in 1712 as a merchant attached to the Dutch West-India Company. In 1728 Capitein and Van Gogh arrived in The Hague, where he was baptised. Then followed the period of his theological study in Leiden, his graduation, and his ordination as minister of the Netherlands Reformed Church. He wrote a dissertation: Politico-theological dissertation concerning slavery, as not contrary to Christian freedom. In 1742 Captain landed again at Elmina. He must have been 25 or 26 years old at that time. In 1745 he became the first known Gold Coast man to have married a European woman, he married a Dutch girl Antonia Ginderdros. He involved himself in trade and fell into debt. He died suddenly on 1st February 1747, aged about 30 years old.

27 CARVER, Jonathan. Reize door de binnenlanden van Noord-Amerika. Naar den derden druk uit het Engelsch vertaald door J.D. Pasteur. Leyden, A. en J. Honkoop, 1796.

2 volumes in 1. Original boards (sl. soiled). With medallion portrait on title, folding map by G. van Baarsel, 2 engraved plates (1 folding) and 4 hand-coloured aquatints depicting costumes. XXVI,248;280,(18) pp. € 750,00

First Dutch edition. - One of the earliest books on the Middle West, unrivalled in the literature of early native American travel. Jonathan Carver wanted to find a north-west land passage between the Atlantic and the Pacific Ocean, he penetrated farther into the West than any other English explorer before the Revolution. He travelled from Boston in 1766 to Lake Superior to the sources of the river St.Pierre, together 7000 miles. This work contains one of the earliest descriptions of what is now known as Minnesota and Wisconsin. 'An admirable work, full of novel information respecting the interior of North America, and its savage inhabitants' (Sabin).

29 CATROU, François. Histoire generale de l'empire du Mogol depuis sa fondation sur les mémoires portugais de M. Manouchi, Vénitien. La Haye, Guillaume de Voys, 1708.

Sm.8vo. Contemporary calf, spine gilt (sl. rubbed). With engraved title-vignette and large folding engraved map. (24),380 pp. € 475,00

First published in French in 1705; with armorial bookplate of Philip Lord Hardwicke Baron of Hardwicke. - 'Niccolao Manucci's book, from which Catrou drew much of his material, was not printed until 1907, when it was translated by William Irvine (the Indian Text Society), of the Bengal Civil Service, for the reason that it had disappeared from view until it turned up in Berlin a few years ago. Its title was Storia do Mogor and it was written partly in Italian, partly in French, and partly in Portuguese. Historians have long bewailed its disappearance, for hitherto they have been unable to check the statements of Catrou. Manucci practically spent his life in India and witnessed so many things and records them so fully and delightfully that he is almost second to none as an historian of Aurangzib's reign' (Cox I, p.285). - A fine copy.

30 CHARLEVOIX, Pierre François Xavier de. Journal of a voyage to North-America. Undertaken by order of the French king containing the geographical description and natural history of that country, particularly Canada. Together with an account of the customs, characters, religion, manners and traditions of the original inhabitants. In a series of letters to the Duchess of Lesdiguières. Translated from the French. London, R. and J. Dodsley, 1761.

2 volumes. Contemporary calf, rebacked, spines gilt with red and green morocco labels to spines. With folding engraved map. VIII,382; VIII,380,(22) pp. € 2.250,00

With armorial bookplate of Ferguson of Raith. - This is the first English translation of Charlevoix's Journal d'un voyage, which was first published in 1744 as the third volume of his Histoire et description générale de la Nouvelle France. Charlevoix (1682-1761), a Jesuit, was sent by his order to Canada in 1705 and again in 1720. His famous report is the first general history of the French discoveries and settlements in North America and remained unsurpassed in the 18th century and is of capital importance for Canadian history. Principally dealing with the French colonies in Canada and Louisiana, he gives very detailed and observant accounts of the Indian tribes and settlements which he visited. 'One of the most descriptive historians of North America' (Howgego p.217). - A very fine set.

With portrait-frontispiece, folding table and 26 folding engraved maps, charts and coastal profiles (small tear in margin of one profile; without the plate list). - Beddie 1546; not in Kroepelien. - First Dublin edition.

Rare Dublin edition; with the armorial bookplate of John Clements. - 'James Cook is not merely the most significant British seafarer and explorer, he is also one of the world's greatest researchers of all time. The length of his scientific voyages on three oceans by far outstripped those of his predecessors, and his ethnographic studies of the peoples of the Pacific islands, New Zealand and Australia provided eighteenth-century Europeans with their first virtually complete insight into this previously more or less unexplored region of the Pacific. Vasco da Gama had conquered the Indian Ocean for Portugal; Cook conquered the Pacific for Britain' (Salentiny, Encyclopedia of world explorers, p.134). - A very attractive set.

38 COXE, William. Account of the Russian discoveries between Asia and America. To which are added, the conquest of Siberia, and the history of the transactions and commerce between Russia and China. 3rd edition, revised and corrected. London, T. Cadell, 1787.
Later half brown morocco, rebacked with the spine laid down. With engraved folding plate depicting the Chinese frontier trading town Mai-ma-chen near Kiakhtha and 4 engraved folding maps (1 tear rep.). XXVIII,454,(2) pp. € 975,00

'The first and second editions of Coxe's book on the Russian discoveries were dated 1780. In 1787, he published this third edition, which has appendices (not in earlier editions) giving a list of the principal charts representing the Russian discoveries, a specimen of the Aleutian language, and tables of latitude and longitude. The most important feature of this third edition is the inclusion of the supplement on Captain Cook, titled: 'A comparative view of the Russian discoveries with those made by Captians Cook and Clerke; and a sketch of what remains to be ascertained by future navigators' (Hill 392). 'Mr. Coxe book contains many curious and important facts with respect to the various attempts of the Russians to open a communication with the New World' (Sabin 17309). This book was for many years the most comprehensive source of information on Russian early voyages, including i.a. the accounts of Michael Nevodskoff, captain Krenitzin and lieutenant Levasheff and observations on the fur trade between the Russians and the Chinese. - (Small libr. stamp on title; age-browed). - A fine copy.

Isaac Coymans (ca. 1620-after 1667; also written as Coeymans, Coeimans or Koeimans) belonged to a wealthy Amsterdam merchant family. He served for the Dutch West India Company as bookkeeper and merchant on the Goldcoast. He returned to Holland in 1649 to start a slave business on his own account. After the discovery of secret correspondence with Joost Kramer, commander of the Danish African Company in Fort Cabo Cors, Coymans was accused of having incited Kramer against the Company. Coymans wrote to Kramer that the Company planned an attack on him and in the second letter seditiously added that he had heard that the Company planned to murder the head of the 'Swarthen' ('Blacks') named 'Jan Klaesz'. He suggested Kramer to attack Fort Nassau (Elmina, Holland's first stronghold) with the help of the blacks. Coymans was arrested and sentenced to six years imprisonment, lifelong banishment from the Netherlands and the areas covered by the charter of the Company, and a fine of 20 thousand carolus guilders and the costs of his trial and imprisonment. Isaac's son Balthasar acquired an assiento in 1685, though for a few years only. The sentence at the end of the present volume was also issued separately. Remarkable account of this notorious trial from March 25th, 1660 till January 24th, 1662. 4to. Later half morocco, spine lettered in gilt. (12),60 pp. € 885,00
- First edition. - 'An incident which took place on Amboyna in 1623 caused quite a stir. The Dutch governor, Van Speult, heard that the English settlers on the island wanted to take possession of the island with the help of the Japanese soldiers who were in the service of the Dutch. After a lawsuit during which, according to prevailing law, use was made of torture, most of the English and Japanese were sentenced to death. The English spoke (and still speak) of the Amboynese murder; it certainly contributed to the deterioration of mutual appreciation between the English and the Dutch in the 17th century' (Coolhaas, A critical survey of studies on Dutch colonial history, p.46). - (Scattered light foxing; 2 blank corners restored).

Contemporary vellum. With title-page printed in red and black and engraved title-vignette, folding map and 9 folding engraved plates by N. v. Frankendaal. XXXII,440 pp. € 1.650,00
- First Dutch edition. - 'The first part contains a synopsis of twenty-three English voyages to discover the Northwest Passage, a history of the rise of the Hudson' Bay Company, and the discovery attempted from New England. The second part gives an account of a voyage under Captains G. Moor and Francis Smith, financed by private subscription, with Arthur Dobbs as the leading subscriber of the Northwest Committe. Ellis, also a subscriber, was hydrographer, surveyor, and mineralogist on the expedition, which proved, finally the nonexistence of a Northwest Passage from Hudson Bay. The work includes many valuable observations on tides, on the vagaries of the compass, and on the customs of the Eskimoss, a people then practically unknown' (Hill p. 189). The author also gives detailed information regarding the flora and fauna of the region. He was appointed governor of Nova Scotia in 1761 (to 1763). - A very fine copy of a rare book.

2 volumes in 1. 4to. Contemporary vellum (sl. soiled; 1 hinge rep.). With engraved title, folding engraved map and 7 engraved plates (1 folding) by J. Lamsvelt. (8),219; 136,(6) pp.

€ 3.950,00

Second Dutch edition. - New and very much altered edition of the first edition of 1678. The whole second part is entirely new and intended for a continuation to the first. Also the plates are new, they are nicely done by J. Lamsvelt. 'Little is known with certainty about Exquemelin (1645- ca.1707) author of one of the most important sourcebooks of seventeenth century piracy. Born about 1645, it is likely that Exquemelin was a native of Harfleur in France, who on his return from buccaneering settled in Holland, possibly because he was a Huguenot. In 1666 he was engaged by the French West India Company and went to Tortuga, where he stayed for three years. There he enlisted with the buccaneers, probably as a barber-surgeon, and remained with them until 1674. .. perhaps no book of the seventeenth century in any language was ever the parent of so many imitations and the source of so many fictions' (CNMM IV, p.51). This famous and popular book, The buccaneers of America, is the prototype of an entire literature of books on pirates and buccaneers in all languages up to the present day. 'It is almost the only comprehensive source of information for pirate activities in the seventeenth century' (Howgego p.357). - (Age-browned). *Cat. First French edition, translated by Demeunier. - Thomas Forrest (1729 - ca.1802) was engaged in 1770 in forming the new settlement at Balambangan, Borneo. His expedition in charge of the English East-India Company (1774-1776) to the Moluccas and New Guinea, in pursuance of new sources of trade, was made in the Tartar, a native boat of about ten tons burden, with two English officers and a crew of eighteen Malays. He pushed the exploration as far as Geelvink Bay in New Guinea (further east than any of his company predecessors). The voyage was one of examination and enquiry rather than of exploration, and the additions made to geographical knowledge were corrections of detail rather than startling discoveries, but the tact with which he conducted his intercourse with the natives, and the amount of work done in a small boat, deservedly won him credit as a navigator (Hill p.219). The introduction contains a survey of the voyages made to New Guinea since 1511. - (Lower part of some margins waterstained). – See illustration.

First edition. - 'This famous journey was made to the mouth of the Coppermine River, largely overland and with the aid of canoes. The coast of the mouth was surveyed. It is one of the most terrible journeys on record, many of the party dying from cold, hunger, or murder. The distance traveled was some 5.500 miles, and Franklin's narrative at once became a classic of travel literature. The plates were engraved by Finden, from drawings by Lieuts. Hood and Back. The natural history appendices are important' (Hill 635). - A fine copy.

(16),406,(9) pp. € 2.250,00

First and only Dutch edition. - An interesting account of the voyage from France, Madeira and the Cape Verde Islands, Santa Catarina Islands, off the coast of Brazil, Tierra del Fuego, through the Straits of Le Maire around Cape Horn and continuing along the coast of South America as far as Lima, describing the chief towns and cities. During his return from Lima, Frézier took the trouble to correct the contemporary charts of the southernmost tip of South America, discovering a new channel in Tierra del Fuego and suppressing many of the imaginary lands previously shown on the maps. His survey also included the Falkland Islands which for the first time were identified as being the same as 'Sebald's Islands'. The return voyage called at Bahia, the Azores and Gibraltar' (Howgego p.399). The observant Frézier brought back information of considerable geographical and scientific value. Much data is included about the native inhabitants, and the work also contains an interesting account of guano. Frézier introduced the ancestor of the modern strawberry to France from Chile (Hill p.231). - (First blank lvs waterstained; some marginal wormholes in first lvs; last lvs waterstained).

82 JUAN, Jorge & Antonio de ULLOA. Historische reisbeschrijving van geheel Zuid-America; gedaan op bevel des konings van Spanje. Goes, Jacobus Huysman, 1771-72.

2 volumes. 4to. Contemporary mottled calf, spines richly gilt, with morocco labels to spines. With title-pages printed in red and black, engraved allegorical frontispiece, 11 engraved plates (6 folding) and 14 folding maps and plans by H. Vinkeles, J. van Schley, and J. van Jagen. (8),XXIV,428; VIII,IV,406 pp. € 2.450,00

First Dutch edition, with new and improved plates and maps. - The most comprehensive 18th century account of South America giving the results of the scientific expedition by a group of leading European scientists. Primary source for the history of Peru, Chile, Ecuador and Colombia. This voyage arose out of the desire of the French government. Members of the Academy of Sciences, under the leadership of Charles-Marie de la Condamine, together with two of the most scientific officers of the Spanish navy, Antonio de Ulloa (1716-1795) and Jorge Juan y Santacilla (1713-1773), 'carried on a series of operations of unexampled difficulty and encountered hardships and sufferings which demanded the strength of the strongest constitutions and the energy of minds stimulated by a love of science' (Cox II, p.275). 'Juan and Ulloa's Travels may be selected as the most entertaining and satisfactory work of its kind' (Sabin 36813). - A very fine copy. - See illustr.

83 KEATE, George. An account of the Pelew Islands, situated in the western part of the Pacific Ocean, composed from the journals and communications of Captain Henry Wilson, and some of his officers, who, in august 1783, were there shipwrecked, in the Antelope, a packet belonging to the hon. East India Company. Dublin, Luke White, 1793.

8vo. Contemporary calf, gilt fillets round sides, spine gilt, with red morocco title label to spine. With engraved portrait frontispiece, folding engraved map and 15 engraved portraits and plates. XXX,378 pp. € 975,00

'In 1783 the Antelope, commanded by Captain Henry Wilson, was wrecked on a reef near one of the Palau (Pelew) Islands, a previously unexplored group. The entire crew managed to get safely ashore, where they were well treated by the natives and eventually managed to build a small vessel from the wreck, in which they reached Macao. They took Prince Lee Boo, one of king Abba Thulle's sons, with them to England, where he made a very good impression. Unhappily, in spite of all precautions, he soon died of smallpox' (Hill 907). 'This was one of the most popular of all shipwreck narratives, partly because of the happy ending of the adventure and partly because of the detailed descriptions of the Pelew Islands' natural features and society' (Huntress 107C). - A fine copy. - See illustration.

4to. Contemporary vellum (sl. soiled). With engraved frontispiece, folding map (margin rep.), and 8 engraved plates by Jan Luyken. (16),291,(26),(1) pp.

€ 1.950,00

First Dutch edition. - Robert Knox (1641-1720), a Scotch commander in the service of the English East India Company, was forced by a storm into the harbour of Cottiar Bay, Ceylon, aboard the Ann. Knox, his father and 16 others were imprisoned and after nearly 20 years they could escape to the Dutch settlement of Aripo on the N.W. coast. From there he was sent to Batavia and thence to England. The original English edition of 1681 is the first trustworthy description in English of the interior of Ceylon, of which previously only the coastal regions, controlled by the Dutch, were explored. 'Knox's Relation was the most comprehensive and accurate description of the kingdom of Kandy written during the seventeenth century. Even the Dutch writers had not enjoyed the oportunities for observing the kingdom that Knox had. After having lived in Kandyan villages for nearly twenty years and having become fluent in Sinhalese, his was very much a view from inside. It is a fascinating account and in the judgement of his modern editor still 'the best available source book for the social and economic history of Ceylon in the seventeenth century' (Lach, Asia in the making, III, p.577). A fascinating unparalleled source-book for 17th century Ceylon. - A nice copy. - See illustration.

2 volumes. Later half calf. With woodengraving on title-pages, 2 engraved frontispieces (stained), and 3 folding engraved maps. VII,(1),254 € 895,00

First Dutch edition. - 'The object of this voyage was to take reinforcements to Kamchatka, but exploration was also intended, and a number of scientists were on board, including the physicist H.F.E. Lenny and the physician and naturalist Johann F. Eschscholtz. The expedition sailed to Brazil, then went by way of Cape Horn to Chile, Tahiti, Pitcairn Island, Tonga, Navigator's Islans, Radack, and thence to Kamchatka. The voyage also visited California, with its new Russian settlement; the Marianas; and the Philippines. With the completion of Kotzebue's explorations, the main features of the northwest coastline of America were fairly well established. This work was originally published in Russian at St. Petersburg, 1828' (Hill 946). - Rare Dutch edition.

First Dutch edition; with the armorial bookpate of Isaac Meulman. - François de la Boullaye Le Gouz (ca. 1610-ca.1669) had left Paris in 1643 to begin his Eurasiatic journeys. On his way overland via Greece and Turkey to India he met with Rhodes in 1648 near Shiraz in Persia. The Jesuit, who at first took Le Gouz for a Persian lord because of his dress, arrived in Paris in 1652 at about the same time Le Gouz returned there from his journey. It was perhaps at Rhodes' suggestion that the king asked Le Gouz to appear before him dressed as a Persian to tell the story of his adventures. .. A work notable for its section devoted to the worshippers of Rama. One of the eastern regions he visited, Le Gouz is most informative on north India and its relations to Persia' (Lach, Asia in the making of Europe III, p.408-409). On his return journey he visited Egypt. Including one of the earliest European accounts of the epic Ramayana and a large description of Turkey. With fine plates of the Indian Gods. - A very fine copy. - Rare.

97 L'HERMITE, Jacques. La furieuse defaite des Espagnols, et la sanglante bataille donnée au Pérou, tant par mer que par terre. Entre lesdits Espagnols & les Hollandois, conduits par leur Admiral, Jacques L'Hermite. Traduit de Flamand en François. Paris, Jean Martin, 1625.
Sm.8vo. Modern boards, with red morocco title-label to spine. (2),16 pp. € 2.450,00

L'Hermite, Dutch admiral (1582-1626) who in 1623 commanded a punitive fleet ('Nassausche vloot') of eleven ships and 1637 men to the coasts of South America with the objective of clearing the westward route to the Pacific of Spanish and Portuguese shipping. They sailed south to the coasts of Patagonia. It then passed through the Strait of Le Maire and sighted Cape Horn on 14.2.1624. While in the region the expedition discovered and anchored in the Bay of Nassau, charting the surrounding islands (including the Hermite group). In addition, it was shown for the first time that it was possible to sail northward through the Le Maire strait. After coasting South America and plundering a few Spanish settlements, the fleet continued across the Pacific and was eventually disbanded at Batavia. Le Hermite, already a sick man at the time of the outward voyage, died at Callao in Peru and was buried on San Lorenzo Island near Lima' (Howgego p.615). This work contains the first published report of L'Hermite's attack on Spanish South-America and of the defeat of the Spanish fleet near Callao de Lima (Peru) in 1624 based on intercepted Spanish letters. The official account was published in Dutch one year later. - Extremely rare. Tiele 663 (note), Sabin 31509 ('Piece rarissime que tant que nous sachons n'est décrite nulle part') and European Americana II, 625/91 all three refer to French editions of the same date; our copy is a variant edition without the addition 'jouxte la copie Flamande imprimé à Anvers'; Church II, 405 (English ed.); not in *Cat. € 375,00

First edition, first issue. - In 1852 Livingstone asked his family to join him in Africa. With the help of the Makololos, a South African tribe, Livingstone planned to explore the whole of southern Africa as far as Angola. The missionary had become an important explorer. As the first European, he traveled on the Zambezi to Kazembe in a pirogue, a fast water vessel made from a tree trunk. In order to escape from the slave traders of Portuguese Africa, Livingstone traveled via Cassange and Bihé to Luanda, a Portuguese port and the capital of Angola, where he arrived completely exhausted on 31 May, 1854. As soon as he had recovered from his fever, he undertook a trek to Lake Dilolo, discovered the source of the Kasai, a left tributary of the Congo, and arrived in Linyanti, the capital of the Makololos. In the course of the major Zambezi expedition that followed he discovered the Victoria Falls, the falls of the middle Zambezi, in 1855 (Waldmann, Eycyclopedia of world explorers, p.226). Abbey, Travel, 347; Mendelssohn I, p.908-10; SAB III, p.136; PMM 341; Gordon-Brown p. 190-191; Hess & Coger 3067.

London, A. Wilde a.o., 1770. 8 volumes. Sm.8vo. Contemporary calf, spines richly gilt with red and green morocco labels to spines. With engraved frontispiece. € 850,00

First English translation published in 1687; with armorial bookplate of John Worth. - 'Marana, the author of volume I, was an Italian journalist long resident in France. He was the first to use the literary device of the 'foreign observer' which was developed later by Montesquieu and Goldsmith. Volumes II-VIII are not by Marana and were not translated from the French. It has been generally agreed that the author was William Bradshaw, a literary hack who worked for the eccentric bookseller John Dunton and later for Robert Midgely, who some consider to be the editor of the Turkish Spy. The work was very popular .. a total of twenty-six editions appeared by 1770' (Blackmer p.226). - (A few marginal wormholes in vol. IV and VIII). - A fine set. Blackmer Collection 1072; not in the Atabey Collection.

2 volumes. Original printed wrappers. With 5 maps and 25 plates (14 tinted lithographs), and several illustrations. VII,186; VII,238 pp. € 285,00

Description of Surinam, Aruba, Bonaire, Curaçao and Venezuela, with fine plates. Martin 'drang im April 1885 von Paramaribo aus ins Gebiet des oberen Surinam vor, begleitet von dem Geometer W.L. Loth; er kam in eine Gegend die bis dahin nur von J.F.A. Cateau van Rosevelt ca. 20 Jahre früher, betreten worden war' (Henze III, p.383). - Mint copy of the 'Seperatausgabe'.
Cat. NHSM I, p.264 (the first volume only).

105 MATELIEF DE JONGE, Cornelis. Historische verhael/ vande treffelijcke reyse, gedaen naer de Oost-Indien ende China, met elf schepen. Door den manhaften admirael Cornelis Matelief de Jonge. Inden jaren 1605. 1606. 1607. ende 1608 (Amst., Jan Jansz., 1645)..
Oblong 8vo. Modern half vellum. With 11 engraved plates. 191 pp. € 525,00

From: Isaac Commelin, Begin ende voortganch. - One of the most important voyages ever undertaken by the Dutch to the East Indies. Matelief sailed with eleven ships and 1446 men, his crushing victory over the Portuguese established Dutch supremacy in the East Indies, which was to continue until World War II. Including an account of the siege of Malacca in 1606 giving details of the naval engagements in which seven Portuguese ships were destroyed. Matelief made a contract for the Dutch East India Company (VOC) with the ruler of Johore and sailed to Bantam, Ambon and Ternate. One of the ships was the Erasmus, later renamed De Liefde, the first Dutch vessel to come to Japan. - (Some waterstaining).
Landwehr, VOC, 250,13.

106 MAURIK, Justus van. Indrukken van een 'Tòtòk'. Indische typen en schetsen. 3e druk. Amst., Van Holkema & Warendorf, (c.1900).
8vo. Original pictorial cloth (extremities of spine sl. dam.). With c. 200 illustrations after Johan Braakensiek and W.O.J. Nieuwenkamp. VII,408 pp. € 145,00

In his book Impressions of a newcomer it was obvious Van Maurik had appropriated all the Indies prejudices during his brief stay there: the imperfect speech of Eurasians amused him, and he portrayed the native Indonesians as a childlike people. He repeated all the club and barroom stories and larded them with his own banal humor. .. No wonder then that Justus van Maurik's trip had been a great succes about which people talked for years (Nieuwenhuys, Mirror of the Indies, p.135).
Buur, Persoonlijke documenten, 459; Cat. KITLV p.259.

107 M'CLURE, Robert John Le Mesurier. The discovery of the North-West passage by H.M.S. 'Investigator' Capt. R. M'Clure, 1850, 1851, 1852, 1853, 1854. Edited by commander Sherard Osborn from the logs and journals of Capt. Robert le M. M'Clure. London, Longman, Brown, Green, Longmans & Roberts, 1856. Contemporary half calf, with red morocco title label to spine. With folding coloured map and 4 tinted lithographed plates (sl. waterstained). XIX,405 pp. € 850,00

First edition. - 'M'Clure set out in company with Collinson in Enterprise, but the two ships became separated in the Straits of Magellan. Having passed through the Bering Strait, the Investigator penetrated both the Prince of Wales and M'Clure Straits, thus making the first discovery of a North-West Passage (October 26, 1850). Investigator was abandoned in Mercy Bay in June 1853, where M'Clure's party, suffering from scurvy, were rescued by Captain Kellet in the Resolute. M'Clure was knighted on his return to England and received the £ 10.000 award as the discoverer of the North-West Passage' (NMMC I, 916). - A fine copy. Abbey, Travel, 647; TPL 3451; Sabin 43073; Chavanne 1538.

108 MELTON, Eduward. Zeldzaame en gedenkwaardige zee- en land- reizen; door Egypten, West-Indien, Perzien, Turkyen, Oost-Indien, en d'aangrenzende gewesten; behelzende een zeer naauwkeurige beschrijving der genoemde landen .. aangevangen in den jaare 1660, en geëndigd in den jaare 1677. Vertaald uit d'eigene aantekeningen en brieven .. Amsterdam, Jan ten Hoorn, 1681. 4to. Old half vellum (new endpapers). With engraved allegorical title-page, portrait of Francois Lolonois and 18 engraved plates (5 folding) by Jan Luyken and J. Harrewyn (2 bottom-margins cut short without loss of images). (8),495,(13) pp. € 1.850,00

First edition. - This book is claimed to be translated from the papers of an English nobleman but according to Tiele it was composed by G. Broekhuizen. 'G. van Broekhuizen, a seventeenth-century translator and publisher from Amsterdam, had read enough travel accounts to be able to compose one himself. Edward Melton's voyage to Egypt, the West Indies, Persia, Turkey, The East Indies and neighbouring regions is pure fiction, but van Broekhuizen inserted enough curiosities to make his book interesting' (Koster, To Hellen's noble land, 32). Muller, at the other hand states 'this description is rendered still more important by the circumstance, that Melton was at New-York in 1668, in the height of the quarrel between England and Holland on the possession of the country, so that he uses the names New York and New-Amsterdam indiscriminately'. 'Exactly who he was, whether he really existed, or if Melton was his real name remains an unsettled problem' (Howgego p.701). The first part is dealing with Egypt. A very detailed description is given in the second part of New Netherland, based on Adriaen van der Donck and Arnoldus Montanus, Virginia, Florida, Cuba, Haiti, Panama and Jamaica; also relating to the buccaneers in the West Indies. The third part is dealing with Persia and Turkey, the fourth with Asia and South Africa. Van Broekhuizen showed a morbid interest in oriental tortures, which he described in detail and of which Jan Luyken presented some vivid illustrations. 'Several of the plates are by the celebrated Jan Luiken and are among his best productions' (Asher 16). - A fine clean copy.

109 METEREN, Emanuel van. Historien der Nederlanden en haar naburen oorlogen tot het jaar 1612. Amsterdam, Jan Jacobs Schipper, 1663.

Folio. Contemporary calf over wooden boards (new endpapers), with later clasps (spine rep., brass cornerpieces and central ornament missing). With engraved title and 55 often full-page or three-quarter-page engraved portraits, including many fine equestrian portraits. (6),629,(11) lvs. € 695,00

The first edition was published in 1599 and was followed by many enlarged editions. Very important Dutch history starting with the 14th century up to 1612. It contains also valuable material for the history of the East- and West Indian Companies, and includes details on a Dutch boatsman who stayed for many years in Japan. Emanuel van Meteren (1535-1612) was consul in London for 30 years. - (Some waterstaining). Haitsma Mulier & Van der Lem 333.

110 MILNER, John and Oswal W. BRIERLY. The cruise of H.M.S. Galatea, captain H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh, in 1867-1868. London, W.H. Allen and Co., 1869.

Original blue cloth, nautical motifs on upper boards, spine gilt (sl. soiled). With photographic frontispiece tipped in, folding map, 4 tinted and 8 chromolithographs and some woodengravings. XII,487,(1);24 pp. € 375,00

First edition. - Account of the cruise round the world of the Duke of Edinburgh. After a short trip to the Mediterranean he set out for the Cape of Good Hope and Australia. 'There is a lengthy description of an exciting and successful hunt, with several elephants bagged' (Czech p.116). The attempt to murder His Royal Highness at Clontarf, Middle Harbour, Sydney, by O'Farrell, a Fenian sympathiser, is fully described' (Ferguson 12627).
Mendelssohn II, p.20; NMMC I, 690.

111 MILNER, Thomas. Russia: its rise and progress, tragedies and revolutions. London, Longman, Brown, Gren, and Longmans, 1856.
Contemporary green calf (Bickers & Son), gilt fillets, spine richly gilt with red morocco title-label. With engraved frontispiece. XV,500 pp. € 195,00

First edition. - A nice copy.

113 MIRZA ABU TALEB KHAN. The travels in Asia, Africa, and Europe, during the years 1799, 1800, 1801, 1802, and 1803. Written by himself, in the Persian language. Translated by Charles Stewart. London, Longman, Hurst, Rees, and Orme, 1810. 2 volumes. Contemporary half blue calf, spines richly gilt. With portrait frontispiece. VIII,(16),320; 418 pp. € 950,00

First edition. - Very interesting account of a Muslim, written by 'A Persian Prince', an official of upper-class Persian descent at the courts of Muslim rulers in Oudh and Bengal. The first chapter is dealing with his family. In the other chapters he relates his adventures starting with his leave from Calcutta. He disembarked at the Cape of Good Hope and finally arrived in Ireland. 'The author, evidently a man of education and ability, affords a short but interesting description of Cape Town' (Mendelssohn II, p.22). In London he was received in aristocratic society and introduced to King George II and Queen Charlotte. He provides a very detailed recording of his social contacts. On his return journey to India he visited Paris, Malta and Constantinople, and then set out overland across Asia to Iraq and India. - (Browned). - Scarce.

114 M'Leod, John. Voyage of his majesty's ship Alceste to China, Corea, and the Island of Lewchew, with an account of her shipwreck. 3rd edition. London, John Murray, 1819.

Contemporary blind-tooled calf, gilt fillets round sides, rebacked with the original spine laid down, spine richly gilt, with green morocco label to spine, inner dentelles. With portrait frontispiece, folding map and 5 hand-coloured aquatints. VI,(1),339 pp.
€ 875,00

First published in 1817; the 3rd edition is the first edition with the map. - 'The Alceste and the Lyra conveyed Lord Amherst's embassy to China, which was the second attempt by the British to open trade with China, after the first effort by Lord Macartney. The Alceste reached Rio de Janeiro in 1816, and then proceeded to the Cape of Good Hope. After a short visit there, Batavia was touched at in order to deliver dispatches for the evacuation of the country and reinstatement of Dutch control, after which the Alceste continued on to China. While the matters of the embassy were proceeding, the ships sailed on an expedition for the survey and exploration of the west coast of Korea and the Ryukyu Islands. In the course of this work a long visit was made to Okinawa. The people were very hospitable to the sailors and gave them a kindly, though careful, reception. On the return voyage, after taking Lord Amherst on board at Macao, Manilla was visited, and then, in Gaspar Strait off the coast of Sumatra, the Alceste struck a submerged reef and became a total loss. The crew and passengers reached the small adjacent island of Pulo Leat safely. Lord Amherst proceeded to Batavia to fetch help while the sailors fortified their island retreat, named Fort Maxwell after their captain. A long and vivid account is given of their experiences, of how they were attacked by Malay pirates, and of their final rescue. On their return voyage, St. Helena was visited, and an interesting account is given of an interview with Napoleon. Dr. M'Leod, the author of this account, was ship's surgeon on board the Alceste' (Hill p.407). - A fine copy. Hill 1169; Abbey, Travel, 559; Borba de Moraes II, p.507; Lust 378; Cordier, BS, 2108; Huntress 188C. - See illustration.

Item 114

115 MONTAGUE, MARY WORTHLY. Letters of the right honourable Lady M-y W-y M-e; written during her travels in Europe, Asia and Africa, to persons of distinction ... which contain, among other curious relations, accounts of the policy and manners of the Turks. New edition. London, T. Becket and P.A. de Hondt, 1767. 3 volumes. Sm.8vo. Contemporary calf with gilt fillets round sides (some hinges weak), spines ribbed with red morocco title-labels (extremities sl. dam.). XII,(4),180; (4),195; (4),230 pp. € 975,00

First published in 1763; with written owner's name Moseley 1767. - Lady Mary Worthly Montague (1689-1762) was the first lady to travel abroad for mere curiosity's sake. In 1716 she accompanied her husband, Edward Montague, on his diplomatic mission to Constantinople, making the journey overland. The letters she wrote back home are justly ranked among the most celebrated of their kind in a century richly endowed with excellent letterwriters. She became a great admirer of Turkish culture and her work includes in sights that were exceptional for their time. A year after her death, her Turkish letters were published for the first time and they have not been out of print since. - With handwritten owner's name and date 1667. Blackmer collection 1150; Atabey collection 829; Gay 94; Paulitschke 682; Robinson, Wayward women, p.32-34.

116 MUNDY, (Godfrey Charles). Pen and pencil sketches, being the journal of a tour in India. 2nd edition. London, John Murray, 1833.
 2 volumes. Contemporary calf, gilt fillets round sides, expertly rebacked, spines gilt, inner dentelles. With 2 frontispieces, folding map, 9 illustrations and 13 (of 14) plates after the author. XV,381; VIII,379 pp. € 375,00

With armorial bookplate of N.M. Ferrers. - 'Travelling throughout India, the author hunted tiger near the Ganges and in the Dehra Dun. He spent time among the Mahrattas, observed wild elephants, and participated in antelope hunting with cheetahs and falcons' (Czech p.145).

117 MUNRO, Innes. A narrative of the military operations, on the Coromandel coast, against the combined forces of the French, Dutch, and Hyder Ally Cawn, from the year 1780 to the peace in 1784; in a series of letters. London, T. Bensley, 1789. 4to. Contemporary calf, rebacked, with red morocco title-label to spine. With engraved oval vignette on title, large folding engraved view of Isle of France and 9 folding engraved plans of the fortifications at Trinquamallee. XVIII,(6),392 pp. € 885,00

With armorial bookplate of Ralph Sneyd Esq. - Included are many usefull cautions to young gentlemen destined for India; a description of the most remarkable manners and customs of the East Indians; an account of the Isle of France and of all the battles fought by the army under lieutenant-general Eyre Coote and other commanders. - A nice clean copy. - Cox I p.303. – See illustration.

120 NIEBUHR, Carsten. Beschryving van Arabie, uit eigene waarnemingen en in't land zelf verzamelde narigten opgesteld. Uit het Hoogduits vertaald. Amsterdam, S.J. Baalde, Utrecht, J. van Schoonhoven & Comp., 1774.

4to. Contemporary mottled calf, spine richly gilt, with red morocco title-label to spine. With engraved title-page, 7 engraved maps (5 folding; the large folding map of Yemen coloured in outline) and 18 engraved plates (3 folding; including two coloured plates with Arab texts) by C.J. de Huyser, N. v.d. Meer and Th. Koning. (4),XXXXII,408,(14) pp. € 2.150,00

First Dutch edition. - In 1761, at the invitation of Frederick V, King of Denmark, Carsten Niebuhr (1733-1815) joined a Danish government-sponsored scientific expedition to explore the Arabian Peninsula, known as Arabia Felix. The five other members, who would die all during the expedition, were Peter Forrskal, a Swedish naturalist, Christian Kramer, a Danish physician and zoologist, George Baurenfeind, a German artist, Friedrich von Haven, a Danish linguist, and a former Swedish military man named Berggren. They, disguised as Muslims, sailed on a ship carrying pilgrims to the Arabian port of Jidda. Niebuhr's account of his journey in Arabia and the Persian Gulf provided Europeans with the first comprehensive descriptions of the region; his map of Yemen was the first to detail scientifically that portion of the Arabian Peninsula. 'There are few better demonstrations of how little was still known about the Arab world in the second half of the eighteenth century than the Danish expedition which set sail for the east in 1761' (Europe and the Arab world, 48). - A fine copy of a classic of early Arabian exploration.

121 NIEUHOF, Joan. Het gezantschap der Neêrlandsche Oost-Indische Compagnie, aan den grooten Tartarischen Cham, den tegenwoordigen keizer van China: waar in de gedenkwaerdigste geschiedenissen .. zedert den jaare 1655 tot 1657 .. beneffens een naauwkeurige beschryvinge der Sineesche steden, dorpen, regeering, wetenschappen, handwerken, zeden ... Amsterdam, Wolfgang, Waasberge, Boom, van Someren en Goethals, 1693.

2 volumes in 1. Folio. Contemporary blind-tooled vellum (1 joint sl. splitting). With engraved frontispiece, engraved portrait of the author (rep.), folding engraved map, 34 double-page engraved plates and ca. 110 nice engravings in text. (8),208;258,(9) pp. € 5.250,00

Third edition, first published in 1665. - In 1665 Nieuhof published what is regarded as the definitive account of the Dutch embassy to Peking, and it is for this that he is best known (Howgego p.752). Nieuhof's account presented the Dutch reader with the most substantial and detailed description of the Middle Kingdom yet published. It contains information from the most important Jesuit sources and adds to them the observations of one of the first Dutchmen to travel in China's interior and visit the capital. Nieuhof's book is lavishly illustrated (providing) European readers with more realistic visual images of China's landscape and people than ever before (Lach-Kley, Asia in the making, III, p.484. First embassy of the Dutch East India Company of Pieter de Goyer and Jakob de Keyser to the court of China in the years 1655-57, describing all the events during this mission, the country, people, flora & fauna, etc. One of the very few non-Jesuit sources of the period. It is richly illustrated with large views of all ports and places visited, starting with Batavia, and with numerous nice text-engravings illustrating in detail Chinese life in the 17th century. The Paolinxi-plate mentioned in the index is actually only present in the Latin edition. - A very clean and fine copy.

122 NIEUWENTYT, Bernard. Het regt gebruik der werelt beschouwingen ter overtuiging van ongodisten en ongelovigen aangetoont. 6e druk. Amsterdam, Adrianus Douci, 1754.

4to. Contemporary mottled calf, spine gilt (extremities of spine damaged). With title-page printed in red and black with nice emblematic vignette, fine engraved portrait after Dk. Valkenburg by P. van Gunst, and 28 folding engraved plates. (12),916,(17) pp. € 450,00

Bernard Nieuwentyt (1654-1718), mathematician and philosopher and burgomaster of Purmerend, is perhaps best remembered for his controversy with Leibniz; as a methodologist he was unequaled up to modern times. He was a follower of Descartes and opponent of Spinoza. In this scientific treatise, his main work, he attacks Spinoza and his school from a biblical point of view. The plates depict anatomical, physiological, mathematical, optical and astronomical figures.

123 OUDEGHERST, Pierre d' Les chroniques et annales de Flandres: contenant les heroïques et tresvictorieux exploits des forestiers, & comtes de Flandres, & les singularités & choses memorables advenuës audict Flandres, depuis l'an de nostre Seigneur Jesus Christ VIc. & XX (=620) jusques a l'an 1476. Anvers, Christopher Plantin, 1571.

18th century mottled calf, gilt fillets round sides and central gilt heraldic supralibros to frontcover, spine richly gilt, with red morocco title label to spine (1 hinge sl. dam. but holding; extremities of spine dam.). With woodcut printer's device on title-page and woodcut initials. (20),340 lvs. € 1.950,00

First edition. - Pierre d'Oudegherst or Oudegherste (1540 - 1592), a Flemish historian, wrote this history of Flanders (Belgium) from the year 620 to 1476. Plantin was too busy with the printing of the Polyglot Bible that he had the actual printing of this book done by his Antwerp colleague, Jan Withagen, using Plantin's type, as shown on the last leaf of the preliminaries. - A very fine copy.

Voet, Plantin Press, 1841.

124 PAASCH, Heinrich. 'From keel to truck'. A marine dictionary in English, French and German .. for the use of ship-owners, builders, brokers, insurance-societies, average-staters, barristers, solicitors, translotors, surveyors, masters, mates, engineers, naval-schools, nautical journalists, etc. Antwerp, Ratinckx, 1885. 126 PARRY, William Edward. Journal of a voyage for the discovery of a North-West passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific; performed in the years 1819-20, in his majesty's ships Hecla and Griper. With an appendix, containing the scientific and other observations. 2nd edition. London, John Murray, 1821. 4to. Later half calf with old boards, spine gilt with black title-label. With 6 engraved charts (4 folding), 5 lithographed profils and 9 aquatint plates by W. Westall after Beechey. (8),XXIX,310,CLXXIX pp. € 1.650,00

First edition published the same year. - The first (and most succesful) of Parry's three voyages. By August 1, 1819, Sir William Edward Parry (1790-1855) had managed to sail westward completely through Lancaster Sound, establishing that it was actually a strait. He then made the European discovery of Barrow Street, which he named after Sir John Barrow. Continuing westward, he reached the south coast of a large island he named Melville Island after Lord Melville. Parry and his men had sailed west of the 110th meridian of longitude, half the distance of the Northwest Passage, and thereby won a prize of £ 5.000, which Parliament had offered as an incentive for the discovery of the Northwest Passage. - (Some spotting and foxing as usual). - Fine. Arctic Bibl. 13145; Hill 1311; Sabin 58860.

127 PEPYS, Samuel. Diary and correspondence of Samuel Pepys, secretary to the admiralty in the reigns of Charles II and James II. The diary deciphered by J. Smith from the original shorthand manuscript in the Pepysian Library. With a life and notes by Richard Lord Braybrooke. The 4th edition, revised and corrected. London, Henry Colburn, 1854.

4 volumes. Contemporary half green calf, spines richly gilt. With 5 portraits (4 frontispiece portraits), a plate depicting the interior of Mr. Pepy's library, and folding map. XL,427; 481; 484; 468 pp. - An attractive set. € 375,00

Item 128

128 PERCIVAL, Robert. An account of the island of Ceylon, containing its history, geography, natural history, with the manners and customs of its various inhabitants; to which is added, the journal of an embassy to the court of Candy. Second edition: With an appendix; containing some particulars of the recent hostilities with the King of Candy. London, printed by and for C. and R. Baldwin, 1805.

4to. Contemporary half calf, spine gilt with morocco title-label. With engraved frontispiece, engraved folding map by A. Arrowsmith, 3 engraved folding charts, and 4 engraved plates. XII,446,(2) pp. € 1.050,00

Second and best edition. - Excellent account of Ceylon to which in this second edition not only an appendix was added but also an index and plates. - The British succeeded the Dutch in Ceylon in 1796, Captain Robert Percival arrived with the British forces in 1797 and spent three years in Sri Lanka. He was, as he writes, "induced by curiosity" because "the accounts hitherto published of this island had been extremely imperfect; as the watchful jealousy of the Dutch both excluded the researches of strangers, and prevented their own people from publishing any observations.. ". He had a pronounced hatred of the cruelty of Dutch rule. In 1800 he joined General Macdowal's embassy to the court of Candy and gives a valuable report of this happening. In his description of pearl fishery he brings to life the extravaganza, the customs and superstitions of the fisherman and the dangers of the deep. Among the plates i.a. a view on the fort of Batacolo, elephant hunting, and the Cinnamon gardens near Columbo. - Some light foxing otherwise fine.

Goonetileke 35a (mentions erroneously 4 instead of 3 charts). – See illustration.

Item 129

129 PHIPPS, Constantine John. A voyage towards the North Pole undertaken by his majesty's command 1773. London, printed by W. Bowyer and J. Nichols for J. Nourse, 1774.

4to. Modern half calf, with red morocco title label to spine. With folding engraved plan, 2 folding engraved charts, 12 folding or double page engraved views and plates. VIII,253,(1) pp. € 2.950,00

First edition. - 'Official account written by Captain Phipps, later Lord Mulgrave. The expedition of the Racehorse and Carcass, undertaken for the purpose of discovering a route to India through the northern polar regions, was blocked by pack ice of Spitsbergen. The valuable appendix gives geographical and meteorological observations, zoological and botanical records, accounts of the distillation of fresh water from the sea, and astronomical observations. The voyage is perhaps best remembered for the presence of young Horatio Nelson, as midshipsman aboard the Carcass, and his encounter with a polar bear' (Hill 1351). Phipps's narrative of his voyage was of considerable scientific interest and was the beginning of modern efforts to reach the North Pole. It also made an important addition to the knowledge of the natural productions of Spitsbergen. - The first British attempt to reach the North Pole since 1615. - (Age-browned). - A fine copy. - See illustration.

130 PINCKARD, George. Notes on the West Indies: written during the expedition under the command of .. Ralph Abercromby: including observations on the island of Barbadoes, and the settlements captured by the British troops, upon the coast of Guiana; likewise remarks relating to the creoles and slaves of the western colonies, and the Indians of South America; with occasional hints, regarding the seasoning, or yellow fever of hot climates London, Longman, Hurst, Rees, and Orme, 1806. 3 volumes. Later half calf, spines gilt, with red and green morocco title labels to spines. XXIV,448; XX,472; XIX,(1),456 pp. € 1.500,00

First edition. - 'The author was deputy inspector general of hospitals in the British army. He accompanied General Sir Ralph Abercromby to the West Indies and while not on service became well acquainted with the regions where he was stationed for the time being. He gives us interesting pictures of Plymouth in war time, of the agonizing delay while awaiting embarkation orders, of the break-up of the fleet in a storm, of a visit to slave ships, and intimate and varied accounts of colonial life in Barbados and along the Guiana coast as well as of the vicissitudes of soldier life in the colonies. He received unfavorable impressions of slavery. Urges emancipation, holding that abolition could be regarded as only a step in that direction' (Ragatz pp.231-232). - (Age-browned). - A fine set.

First Dutch revised translation of Raffles' monumental History of Java, London 1817. Thomas Stamford Raffles (1781-1826) was lieutenant Governor-General of the Indonesian Archipelago during the British interregnum from 1811-1816. He was interested in every aspect of the Javanese people and culture, it seems he had a deep admiration. - (Small libr. stamp on title).

136 RAFFLES, Thomas Stamford. The history of Java. London, Black, Parbury, and Allen, and John Murray, 1817.

2 volumes. 4to. Modern blind-tooled half calf. With 2 maps (one large folding of Java), 10 hand-coloured plates and 53 etched or aquatint plates, and some engraved vignettes. XLVIII,479; VIII,288,(3),CCLX pp. € 6.250,00

First edition. - Raffles (1781-1826) 'was interested in every aspect of his subject, and devotes whole sections to Javan ethics, literature, poetry, music, and musical instruments, drama, games of skill and methods of hunting, besides the more ordinary matters of interest population, natural history, religion, antiquities, and the military system .. The history of Java stands very high in its own class, and the aquatint plates are full of interest' (Prideaux p.252-253). 'In terms of the pictorial depiction of Javanese costume and topography the importance of the History of Java can hardly be exaggerated .. The marriage of a scientifically original text with beautiful illustrations by an accomplished aquatint engraver resulted in a book about Indonesia of outstanding quality; indeed, a masterpiece' (Bastin-Brommer p.6-7). The ten coloured aquatints, though unsigned are by William Daniell, illustrate Javanese life and costume, and the Papuan boy who accompanied Raffles to England in 1816. The plate of the Borobudur is one of the first depictions of the monument. 'An influential work valued for the author's firsthand observations on the customs and condition of the Javanese under his administration as Governor-General during the British occupation of the Dutch East Indies (1811-1815)' (Von Hünersdorff/Hasenkamp p.1213). - A fine copy.

137 RAINSFORD, Marcus. St. Domingo, of het land der Zwartten in Hayti en deszelfs omwenteling. Naar het Engelsch. Amsterdam, Johannes Allart, 1806. 2 volumes. Original boards, uncut. With folding engraved map, folding engraved plan, 3 folding facsimiles, and 9 engraved plates by R. Vinkeles and D. Vrydag after M. Rainsford. XXVIII,410,(1); VII,(1),416 pp. € 1.250,00

First Dutch edition. - Rainsford was a British officer in the West Indies who was driven ashore on St. Domingo, where he was sentenced to death as a spy but was released on the orders of Toussaint L'Ouverture. L'Ouverture was born in Haiti in 1743 and was slave for 50 years before he joined the revolutionaries. Using his genius and extraordinary military ability he led them drive first the French, then the English, followed by the Spanish, from the island of Haiti. Napoleon Bonaparte was determined to recapture the possessions for his empire so fighting started again. After Napoleon promised liberty and equality, L'Ouverture accepted the truce after which he was arrested and sent to France where he died in prison. 'A former slave who emerged as the dominant figure in the Haitian Revolution, Toussaint Louverture is arguable the most important black leader in the history of the Americas. Even though he did not live to see an independent Haiti, Louverture (as he became known after the revolution) made independence possible. He became a formidable symbol of black power, dignity, and autonomy in the Americas, both for those aspired to and for those who abhorred this possibility' (Rodriguez, Historical encycl. of world slavery, II, p.418). Detailed history of the island, the rise of the Black Republic, its army and the brutal war with the French, and description of the life of Toussaint L'Ouverture. - Scarce. Muller, America, p.57; Sabin 67535 (later edition); DNB p.627. - See illustration.

First Dutch edition was published in 1653. - George Sandys (1578-1644) was the son of the Archbishop of York and a literary figure of some standing. In 1609 he set sail for the East and he spent the next year travelling in Turkey, Egypt and Palestine and later studied antiquities in Rome. His observations first appeared in English in 1615 and his text was soon regarded as a special authority on the Levant. He has been called the first 'classical tourist' of England. Sandys also was interested in colonial promotion, and was one of the undertakers named in the third charter of the Virginia Company in 1611, and later treasurer and a member of the Council. This book also became popular in the Netherlands and was several times republished. - A fine clean copy.

(12),328,253,(23) pp. € 2.150,00

First edition; with armorial bookplate of H.W. Struben. - Wouter Schouten (1638-1704) spent 7 years as a physician in the service of the Dutch East India Company (VOC) in the East 1658-1665. His travel-account stayed very popular for a long time because of his ample and vivid descriptions of the countries, the different peoples and anything of note concerning the animals, plants, etc. of Java, Amboyna, Ternate, Celebes, Cape of Good Hope, coast of Coromandel, Malabar, Persia, Arabia, Ceylon, etc. With fine engraved views of Batavia, Ternate, Malacca, Makassar, Colombo, Cape of Good Hope etc. by C. Decker and J. Kip. Most of them are the first accurate topographical views of these towns. Because of the bad weather the fleet arrived on the return voyage in Bergen (Norway), where Schouten eyewitnessed the attack by the English in 1665. 'Schouten was an observant traveller who explored inland into the environs of nearly every port-of-call, sometimes by himself or with a small group of comrades. His narrative, full of anecdotes as well as information gleaned about countries he had not visited, became particularly popular with readers in the eighteenth century, when it was republished in no fewer than seven editions' (Howgego p.947). - A very fine copy. – See illustration.

First English edition. - By order of Louis VI to explore Egypt, Sonnini spent three years travelling through Egypt as far as Aswan. He then went on to Greece and Turkey, and returned to France in 1790. Ruined after the Revolution he was forced to support himself by writing. Sonnini's major interest was natural history, and the plates are showing views, botanical and zoological specimens and antiquities. His work is full of important information and he does not shirk subjects as Egyptian female and male circumcision, homosexuality, serpent eating, cosmetics, etc. - (Browned). Gay 2250 (French ed.); Cox I, p.395; Blackmer Collection 1573 (2nd ed.); Attabey Collection 1155 (2nd ed.); Ibrahim-Hilmy p.245.

With 22 (of 25) engraved maps and plates. 118 pp. € 425,00

From: Isaac Commelin, Begin ende voortgangh. - Joris van Spilbergen was appointed in 1614 to head an expedition to the East Indies for the Dutch East India Company (VOC) by way of the Strait of Magellan to reassert Dutch claims to access into the Pacific from the east. Joris van Spilbergen was the second Dutchman to circumnavigate the world (1614-1618). The second part contains the voyage around the world (1615-1617) by Willem Cornelisz. Schouten and Jacob Le Maire. - (Some waterstaining).

158 St. JOHN, Spenser. Life in the forest or the Far East; or travels in Northern Borneo. 2nd edition, revised. London, Smith, Elder and Co., 1863. 2 volumes. Original blue cloth, spines pictorial gilt. With 3 folding maps, 4 hand-coloured plates and 12 tinted lithographed plates. XVI,406; XI,424 pp. € 1.295,00

Second and best edition. - Sir Spenser St. John (1825-1910) was appointed private secretary to Sir James Brooke in 1848, who was at that time commissioner and governor of Labuan, a post to which St. John succeeded temporarily in 1851-1855. Appointed in 1856 British consul-general at Brunei, he explored the country round the capital and penetrated the interior of Borneo farther than any previous traveller. He published his full and accurate journals, supplemented by other visitors' testimonies, in two well-written and beautifully illustrated volumes (DNB). Including extensive notes on the Chinese in North Borneo. - Fine.

161 STEDMAN, John Gabriel. Narrative, of a five years' expedition, against the revolted negroes of Surinam, in Guiana, on the Wild Coast of South America; from the year 1772, to 1777: elucidating the history of that country, and describing its productions .. with an account of the Indians .. & negroes of Guinea. 2nd edition, corrected. London, J. Johnson, 1806.

2 volumes. 4to. Later half calf (Edmund LLOYD Harley), spines gilt in compartments, with green morocco title labels to spines. With aquatint frontispiece, engraved vignettes on titles, 3 folding maps and 77 aquatint plates (including a large folding view of Paramaribo) by William Blake, Francesco Bartolozzi, a.o. (foxed as usual). XVIII,423,(4); IV,419,(5) pp. € 3.850,00

First published in 1796, it has gone through more than twenty editions in six languages; with armorial bookplate of Anthony Wilkinson. - Captain John Gabriel Stedman, an officer in the Scots Brigade in Holland, volunteered for service against the negroes in Dutch Guiana. While out there he to all intents married the subject of plate 8, Joanna, a Mulatto, and had a son by her, who became a midshipsman in the British Navy, but died young. ' While he did his duty as a soldier .. he does not disguise his sympathy with the rebels .. His description of the cruelties practised on the negroes, and of the moral deterioration resulting to their masters, forms one of the most vivid indictments of slavery that have ever been penned' (DNB). Stedman (1744-1797), a keen observer living for more than four years in the colony of Surinam, derives much of what he reports from first-hand observation, but even his reports of hearsay represent key primary data, in that they disclose rich details about everyday plantation discourse. The text consists of the romance with Joanna and his efforts to gain her freedom, the military campaigns against the rebel slaves, his relations with other soldiers, particularly his commanding officer, Fourceoud, the description and investigation of exotic flora and fauna, the description of Amerindian and African slave life, and most important, the description and analysis of relations between planters and slaves. The engravings show the habitations of both the natives and the Europeans, local flora and fauna, ships, forts, tools, battle plans, and map of the area. - A first-hand account of an eighteenth-century slave society. - Apart from stains on the plates due to the quality of the paper, a fine copy.

4to. Contemporary vellum. With engraved frontispiece, folding map and 18 (of 19) double-page engravings by C. Decker and J. Kip. (8),377,(1),34,(12) pp. € 895,00

Second Dutch edition. - Very interesting and lively account of the three voyages made by Jan Janszoon Struys. The first from the autumn of 1647 to the spring of 1651 took him to Japan (a.o. a description of Nagasaki) and Formosa (he asserts that he saw there a race of men with tails). During his second journey from December 1655 to July 1657 he travelled extensively in the Mediterranean. His third voyage, September 1668 to October 1673, took him to Russia, Persia and Arabia via the Caspian Sea. 'Struys kept no diary, so that by the time his narrative was finally published in 1676, his fanciful imagination had somewhat distorted the reality behind his journey. At sea he experienced typhoons, shipwrecks, hunger and captivity, and he was several times sold as a slave, a misfortune always guaranteed to delight a seventeenth century audience' (Howgego p.999). - A nice copy.

Sm. 8vo. Contemporary vellum. With engraved frontispiece, double-page plan, 4 double-page maps, 25 engraved plates (16 double-page), and engraved vignettes, by C. Vermeulen after P. Sevin. (10),264, 133-227,(12) pp. € 1.950,00

Second and best edition. - In 1685 Guy Tachard (1648-1712) accompanied, as official geographer, the first embassy, under Chevalier de Chaumont, to be sent from Louis XIV of France to Siam (Thailand). 'Chaumont himself, somewhat naively, was disappointed that Narai and Phaulkon seemed to show little interest in Christianity. He and others had been led by Vacher to believe that the Siamese king was on the point of accepting baptism. The king was only beguiled by Western science and his minister only intrigued by the possibility of a political and military alliance with France that would help to bolster his waning personal authority at the court' (Lach, Asia in the making of Europe, III, p.254). At the Cape they were well received by Adriaan van Rheede and Simon van der Stel. His account of their scientific investigations and observations at the Cape in 1685 is one of the best. Java, Sumatra, and Bantam were also visited and described. Plates depicting costumes, animals, plants, Siamese bargues, etc. - A very fine copy. - See illustration.

170 THOMPSON, George. Travels and adventures in Southern Africa. Comprising a view of the present state of the Cape Colony, with observations on the progress and prospects of the British emigrants. London, Henry Colburn, 1827. 4to. Contemporary blind-tooled half calf gilt, gilt lettering to spine. With folding map of South Africa (small tear on fold) and plans of Cape Town (double-page) and Graaff-Reinet (folding, small tear on fold), 17 wood-engraved vignettes and 20 aquatint plates (light marginal spotting; 1 double-page depicting 'Table Mountain from the parade'). XVIII,(2),493 pp. € 2.450,00

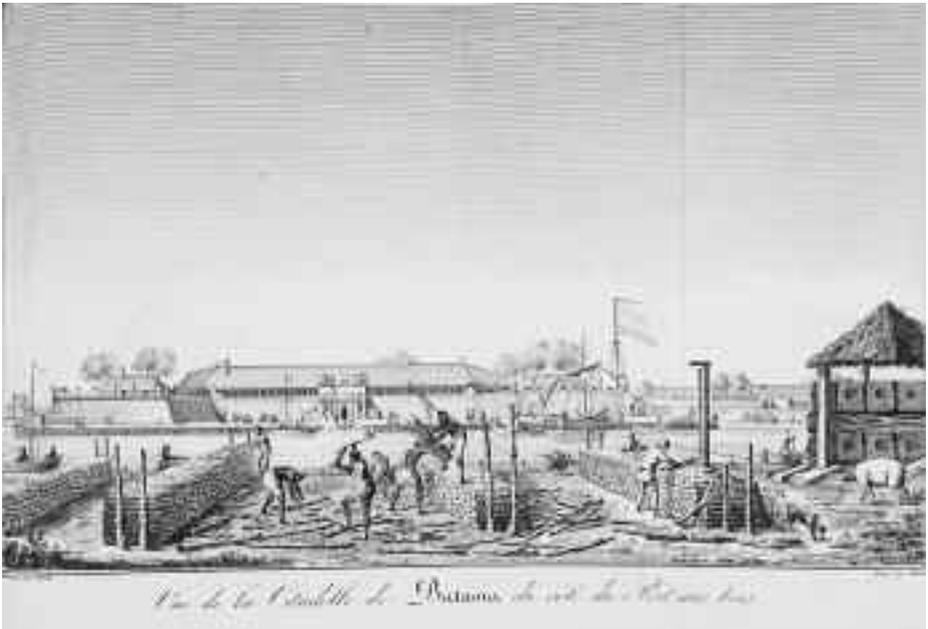

First edition; with armorial bookplate. - George Thompson (1796-1889) a merchant and traveller, resided at Cape Town as the representative and shareholder of a large London company. 'In 1821, Mr. Thompson made a six weeks 'excursion to Albany 'to examine into the prospects of the British emigrants' .. he visited Port Elizabeth ('then a hamlet of only three or four houses'), Uitenhage, Graham's Town, Bathurst, George, and many other districts and settlements .. In 1823 and 1824 he proceeded to the Orange River and Bechuanaland, and his account of these regions is recognised as the most important description of this part of the continent published in the early part of the nineteenth century. The third division of the work comprises a review of the condition 'of the Dutch and British inhabitants, of the agricultural, commercial, and financial circumstances of the country and of its adaption of further colonisation. .. This valuable work contains a number of excellent engravings, some of which were contributed by the naturalist Wehdemann, and others by Mr. De Meillon and Dr. Heurtley' (Mendelssohn II, p.494). 'His Travels provides valuable descriptions of the geography, history and natural history' (Howgego II, p.586). 'Both Thompson's 'Travels' and his illustrations stand high in the field of Africana' (Gordon-Brown, Pictorial Africana, p.230). - A fine copy. Mendelssohn II, p.494-495; SAB IV p.490; Abbey, Travel, 330 (2nd ed. only); Gay 3058. - See illustration.

Revu et augmenté de plusieurs notes et éclaircissemens, par M. Sonnini. Paris, Arthus Bertrand, 1810. - See illustration.

2 volumes + atlas. 8vo and 4to. Contemporary marbled calf, spines richly gilt with red morocco labels. With folding engraved plate of Dutch settlement in Kupang, Timor, 2 folding engraved plans of Batavia and Colombo, 3 folding engraved views of Batavia, 5 folding engraved maps (Mauritius, Sumatra, Java (2), Réunion), and 7 engraved plates (5 depicting costumes of Java and Bali), all drawn by the author, engraved by Ambroise Tardieu and Adam. XV,413; 348 pp. € 4.250,00

Original edition. - The author arrived at the Cape on the 25th of December 1802. An English fleet of ten ships and a Dutch fleet of seven ships were in Table Bay awaiting the 1st of January, when the colony was to be handed back to the Dutch. The ample account of the Cape is followed by a large description of Mauritius, Batavia (Jakarta), Timor and Java. At the end a French-Malay dictionary, a description of Réunion, the battle of Colombo of 1796, and notes on the Dutch East India Company (VOC) are added. The three plates of Batavia, representing views of the castle and of the Dutch church, are after Rach. - (With small library stamp of a Jesuit college of Marseille on title-pages; age-browned). 'Voyage fort recherché tant pour le texte que pour le bel Atlas' (Ryckebusch 7791). - A very fine copy of this scarce voyage. *Cat. NHSM I, p.178; Cat. Compiled from journals of the officers and the missionaries. With a preliminary discourse on the geography and history of the South Sea Islands; and an appendix, including details never before published of the natural and civil state of Otaheite. London, printed by S. Gosnell for T. Chapman, 1799.
4to. Later half brown calf, with red morocco title label to spine. With folding map, 6 folding charts and 6 engraved plates. (12),C,420,(12) pp. € 1.395,00

First edition. - Full official account of the first missionary voyage to the South Pacific undertaken at the expense of the London Missionary Society. 'The voyage of the Duff was undertaken for the purpose of establishing a mission in Tahiti, and a settlement of twenty-five persons was formed. Though the king of the island befriended them, they met with continual difficulties because of the civil wars, and were finally forced to flee to Australia, though they returned in 1815. Apart from the missionary interest of this account, the voyagers made many important discoveries of islands, including Timoe, Mangareva and Pukarua in the Tuamoto Archipelago; Ongea and Fulanga Islands, Vanua Mbalavu, and Satawal, Lamotrek, Elato, Ifalik, and Woleai atolls in the Western Carolines, before putting in at Macao. A new group of islands, named the Duff Group, was discovered among the Santa Cruz islands. On the outward voyage, the expedition visited Rio de Janeiro. The narrative is fresh, although sometimes naive, and provides a glimpse of everyday life on the islands that the mariner or naturalist didn't consider worth reporting' (Hill pp.670-671). - Except offsetting of the plates a fine large paper copy. Hill 1894; Du Rietz, Kroepelien, 528; O'Reilly/Reitman 674; Borba de Moraes II, p.943; Ferguson 301.

Japanese woodblock print in colours, depicting a Dutch couple. Oban ca. 37 x 25 cm. € 1.450,00

A fine print showing a Dutch man, seated with a Japanese book in his hand, and next to him standing a Dutch woman. 'Yoshitora (fl. c.1850-80), ukiyo-e printmaker, was born and worked in Edo. Pupil of Utagawa Kuniyoshi. Made prints of Tokyo scenes, of foreigners in Yokohama, and of foreign scenes, all in the late ukiyo-e manner. It is obvious, however, that he never saw any of the foreign scenes he depicted and, instead, copied them from Western engravings. The prints have considerable naive charm' (Roberts, A dictionary of Japanese artists, p,204). - Good impression and colour. – See illustration on cover.

Second and best edition. - This classic work on the Greenland whale fishery is one of the most thorough and authoritative descriptions of the early 18th century. It is the most important and extensive old Dutch work on whaling, including ample descriptions of the early discoveries and exploration in the northern regions. Giving along with extensive natural history, geography, history, and economics, detailed lists of ships' outfits, lists of shipowners and captains, an extensive vocabulary, and copious other details. At the end an account of New-Foundland cod-fishing. - A fine copy. – See illustration.

First published in Dutch in 1704. - Willem Bosman (1672 - ?), employee of the Dutch West India Company (WIC) and chief Dutch factor at the castle of Elmina, wrote the first authoritative and detailed account of the West Coast of Africa, during a 14 years' residence there. It is the chief source for the knowledge of the Dutch slave-trade during the second half of the 17th century. It also gives an interesting picture of international rivalry, current trade, and the wretched depraved existence of the European factors stationed permanently on the coast. The book is written in the form of letters to a friend. The last two letters are written by other authors. The first is written by David van Nyendael containing a description of Rio Formosa, or Benin. The second is written by Jan Snoek giving a description of the Tooth and Grain Coast. The fine plates depict a.o. the Dutch fortresses. - A very fine copy.

18 editions were published between 1709-1902 (see de Groot, De 'Grootte Christelycke Zee-vaert' en 'De God-vreezende Zeeman', hun meer dan driehonderjarige rol als toeverlaat voor de zeevarenden). Only very few copies exist of each of the editions, all of them are rare, which means that this book was very popular and much used. Van Leeuwarden (1648-1730) was not a clergyman but probably an artisan. Included are prayers for the whalers and hering fishers. - Fine.

First Dutch edition. - The reverend Abraham Roger / Rogerius left in 1630 as an employee of the Dutch East India Company (VOC) and worked in Palicatta (Coromandel) for ten years. He then went to Batavia where he served the Portuguese Church for five years. He repatriated in 1647 and settled in Gouda where he died in 1649. His book contains the earliest European account of Hinduism in Southern India and is still one of the most important sources for our knowledge of the type of Hinduism then prevalent south of the Dekhan. 'Roger prepared probably the most thorough description of south-Indian Hinduism to be published before the end of the nineteenth century. Dispassionate and objective in its content, it contains an account of the religious practices of the Brahmans and a translation of some of the seventeenth-century poet, Bhartrihari. Roger died in 1649, two years before the publication of his book' (Howgego p.903). - (Some marginal wormholes). - Rare.
