First published in 1866. - In 1861 Baker set out, accompanied by his Hungarian wife Florence von Sass, on a voyage to discover the source of the White Nile. They spent some time in the Sudan and in 1862 they set out from Khartoum and arrived in Gondokoro in 1863 where they met up with British explorers James Augustus Grant and John Hanning Speke, who informed them they had determined that the source of the Nile was Lake Victoria. The Bakers then continued southward to Juba on the White Nile. Finally in 1864 reached the shores of the Luta N'Zige, in what is now northwestern Uganda. Baker renamed it Lake Albert (Albert Nyanza). - A fine set. PMM 357; Hilmy I, p.49; Czech p.15; HowgegoIV, p.53-56.

9 BAKER, Samuel White. Ismailia: a narrative of the expedition to Central Africa for the suppression of the slave trade. Organized by Ismail, Khedive of Egypt. New York, Harper & Brothers, 1875. Original brown pictorial cloth with gilt vignette of a camel caravan on the upper cover (extremities of spine dam.). With engraved portrait, 2

coloured maps (1 folding) and many woodengraved plates. 542 pp. € 275,00

First American edition. - "This work by the celebrated traveller and sportsman describes his extremely difficult and eventful journey to, and administration in, the Sudan. He was the first Englishman to take high office under the Egyptian government. Although well-equipped and accompanied by a substantial number of troops, he had to contend with the hostility of the slave-traders (who fought several pitched battles against him) as well as that of the terrain' (Blackmer Sale). Samuel Baker (1821-1893) was a British explorer, naturalist, and big game hunter, chiefly remembered for his exploration of central Africa and the "discovery" of the Albert N'yanza (Lake Albert), the source of the Nile River. With him was his wife, a voluptuous Transylvanian he had spirited away from a Bulgarian slave market under the nose of the local pasha, saving her from a lifetime in the harem. Taking the name Florence, she would never leave her husband's side (Howgego, The book of exploration, p.256). Florence Barbara Maria von Sass (1841-1916) must be one of the best-kept secrets in the annals of African exploration (Robinson, Wayward women, p. 3-4).

44 (FLANNIGAN, Mrs.) (mrs. LANAGHAN). Antigua and the Antiguans: a full account of the colony and its inhabitants from the time of the Caribs to the present day, interspersed with anecdotes and legends. Also an impartial view of slavery and the free labour systems; the statistics of the island, and biographical notices of the principal families. London, Saunders and Otley, 1844.

2 volumes. Original embossed cloth (back vol. II soiled), spines gilt. XIV,345, + Erratum slip; VIII,355 pp. € 850,00

First edition. - . The writer was an English lady, for many years resident in the colony both before and after emancipation. The historical part is written in annalistic form, by governors, and is interspersed with local legends. Colonial records were consulted to some extent for the latter period. Its chief value is as a mirror of contemporary Caribbean society and for this, it is invaluable. An infinite variety of subjects is handled in a sprightly, well-informed, and sympathetic manner. Unsurpassed for the general state of Antigua after the close of the slave régime. Genealogies of the topping families will be found in the appendix (Ragatz p.224). - One of the best early accounts of Antigua. - Scarce entertaining work.
Sabin 1693; The Beinecke Lesser Antilles Collection 870; Theakstone p.99.

Bogoriana. Roman uit Indië. 2e druk. Haarlem, H.D. Tjeenk Willink, 1893.

Original brown decorated gilt cloth (soiled), a.e.g. (6),375 pp. € 75,00

First published in 1890. - Satirical novel on Bogor (Buitenzorg) where the author lived in 1878. 'Bogoriana' (1890) is zeker haar beste roman. Ofschoon ze ook hier en daar een intrige door het verhaal vlecht, is haar boek toch meer een reeks schetsen geworden die een nauwelijks meer goedmoedige satire bevat op de sociale verhoudingen en het doen en laten van de mensen. Hier kon Annie Foore zich uitleven in haar scherpe observaties' (Nieuwenhuys, Oost-Indische spiegel, p.229).

First published in 1763; with written owner's name Moseley 1767. - Lady Mary Worthy Montague (1689-1762) was the first lady to travel abroad for mere curiosity's sake. In 1716 she accompanied her husband, Edward Montague, on his diplomatic mission to Constantinople, making the journey overland. The letters she wrote back home are justly ranked among the most celebrated of their kind in a century richly endowed with excellent letterwriters. She became a great admirer of Turkish culture and her work includes in sights that were exceptional for their time. A year after her death, her Turkish letters were published for the first time and they have not been out of print since. 'She was one of the most generous and accurate chroniclers of life in Constantinople since Busbecq' (O'Neill, The Ömer Koç Collection, 138). 'She established the genre of European women's travel writing. Opinionated, energetic and flamboyant, they present a seductive, sophisticated and challenging vision of the European encounter with the Orient and they set a standard to which many subsequent writers aspired but few ever achieved' (Tuson, Western women travelling East, p.31).
